

Band Mic Usage — Cross-Show Comparison

AUD-IT Operations · Phoenix Theatre Company · Dear Evan Hansen / Ever After / Les Mis

Show	Toms / Drums	Strings	Percussion / Cymbals	Signature Choice
Dear Evan Hansen Hornel · CL5	Sennheiser e904 (e604 backup)	DPA 4099 violin, viola, cello, upright bass	Shure SM57 snare, djembe	Neumann KM184 acoustic guitars + drum OH
Ever After Stephenson · PM5 · closed	Sennheiser e604	DPA 4099 cello, viola, violin x2	Shure SM57 snare, mark tree, bongos	Shure Beta 91A kick, “on a pillow”
Les Mis Stephenson · PM5 · current	Sennheiser e604 updated 7/2/26, was MD-441	DPA 4099 cello, viola, violin	Shure KSM137 tam tam, ride, china cymbals	Sennheiser MKH-50 mallets, aux perc, reeds

Pattern: the DPA 4099 clip-mic family is the one true constant — every show mics its strings (and Dear Evan Hansen's upright bass) with some 4099 variant. Sennheiser e604 shows up on two of three shows for toms. Cymbal/percussion mic'ing is the most show-specific choice: KSM137 (Les Mis), SM57 (Ever After), and neither on Dear Evan Hansen, which instead leans on Neumann KM184 and e904 — mics not used on the other two shows at all.
